

You Must Remember This

Director's Note

From this evening expect an assortment of music involving 3 decades of musical styles, the smooth and silky songs of the 40's and 50's to the boisterous rock and roll of the sixties Including, a few show tunes, to add to the mixture. We hope that all the songs will be recognizable, maybe a personal favourite or two from those halcyon days of our youth.

There are so many to choose from, in fact more than enough for five shows, but tonight I hope you enjoy the ones I have chosen, songs that have withstood the sands of time and in truth people will remember for many more decades and are sure to become part of the history of music, just for this evening swing and sway, join in if you like we won't mind.

I wonder if the songs of The Arctic Monkeys, The Darkness or Oasis (I hear you say WHO) will still be remembered in 5 years let alone 30.

I would as ever like to thank my brilliant cast for working so hard, and doing their part in keeping the doors of this unique theatre open The crew who never get into the "Lime Light" but without them we don't have a show, and a special thanks to Geoffrey and Ellie Bennetts for allowing us to rehearse in their beautiful home, also Guy and Rosemary Dearden for their much appreciated help.

Flanders and Swann

Michael Flanders and Donald Swann first got together in 1957 unfortunately but amicably they parted 11 years and goodness know how many great songs later. Songs like "The Hippopotamus Song", "Madeira M'dear", and "The Gasman Cometh". We are indeed fortunate that these songs have been published. Sit back and enjoy from Grannies to Grandchildren. Nothing naughty just silly songs.

An evening hosted by Gordon Peters - BBC1: "The Gordon Peters Show", "My Family", "Little Britain", "One Foot in the Grave", "Dad's Army". Accompanied by David Carter, an accomplished pianist, accompanist to the likes of Barbara Windsor and Elaine Page. Together Gordon and David will celebrate the lives of two talented men whose songs still live on today. A Celebration of Flanders and Swann opens for two nights only on Sat 12th May.
